UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
SAN FRANCISCO/OAKLAND DIVISION

ANDREA KAY and DANIEL MYFORD, , individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated,

Plaintiffs,

v.

WELLS FARGO BANK, N.A., NORTH STAR
MORTGAGE GUARANTY REINSURANCE
COMPANY

Defendants.

Civil Action No. C07-01351 WHA

JURY TRIAL REQUESTED

Class Action

FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT

Plaintiffs Andrea Kay and Daniel Myford (“Plaintiffs”), on behalf of themselves and a class of all others similarly situated, allege as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. Defendants are each subsidiaries of Wells Fargo & Company, one of the nation's largest financial services companies. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., together with certain participating subsidiaries and/or affiliates, and under various trade names (collectively referred to herein as "Wells Fargo " or the "Company") has acted in concert with its affiliated reinsurer, North Star Mortgage Guaranty Reinsurance Company ("North Star") to effectuate a scheme whereby, in violation of the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act of 1974 ("RESPA"): (a) illegal referral payments in the form of purported reinsurance premiums are paid by private mortgage insurers to North Star; and (b) Wells Fargo receives an unlawful split of private mortgage insurance premiums paid by its borrowers.

2. This is a proposed national class action brought by Plaintiffs on behalf of themselves and a class of all other similarly situated homeowners who obtained residential mortgage loans through Wells Fargo or any of its subsidiaries and paid for private mortgage insurance issued by insurers with whom Wells Fargo had captive reinsurance arrangements.

3. Homeowners who buy a home with less than a 20% down payment are typically required to pay for private mortgage insurance. Private mortgage insurance protects the lender in the event of a default by the borrower. The premium is paid by the borrower and is usually collected by the lender with the borrower's monthly payments. Borrowers typically have no opportunity to comparison-shop or select the private mortgage insurer.

4. Section 2607 of RESPA prohibits lenders from accepting kickbacks or referral fees from any person providing a real estate settlement service, including providers of private mortgage insurance. Thus, a lender cannot legally accept a referral fee from the insurer issuing the private mortgage insurance policy on the borrower's home.

5. Wells Fargo has attempted to circumvent RESPA's prohibition against accepting kickbacks and unearned fees by arranging for the private mortgage insurer to pay an excessive

1 portion of borrowers' private mortgage insurance premiums to North Star in the form of purported
2 reinsurance premiums.

3           6. While these payments to Wells Fargo's wholly-owned subsidiary were purportedly
4 for "reinsurance" services, North Star received these payments while assuming very little or no
5 actual risk. For instance, from 1999 through 2005, Wells Fargo's captive reinsurer received well
6 over $325 million from leading primary mortgage insurers as its "split" of borrowers' mortgage
7 insurance premiums--$72 million in 2005 alone. In stark contrast, its actual insurance losses as 8 reflected in the total amount of claims paid with respect to such premiums were zero. In other
9 words, the millions of dollars collected by Wells Fargo through its captive reinsurance
10 arrangements far exceeded the value of any services rendered.

11           7. This scheme constitutes disguised, unlawful referral fees in violation of RESPA's 12 anti-kickback provisions, as well as a violation of RESPA's ban on accepting a percentage of 13 settlement-service fees other than for services actually performed.

14 JURISDICTION AND VENUE

15           8. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§
16 1331 and 1367 and 12 U.S.C. § 2614.

17           9. Venue is proper in this district under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b) and 12 U.S.C. § 2614
18 because the real property involved in one or more of Plaintiffs' mortgage loan transactions is 19 located in this district, Defendants reside in this district and a substantial part of the events giving 20 rise to the claims occurred in this district .

21 PARTIES

22 Plaintiffs

23           10. Plaintiff Andrea Kay resides in San Francisco, California. In August 2006, Plaintiff
24 Kay obtained a residential mortgage loan from Wells Fargo for the purchase of a home, with a
25 downpayment of less than 20%, and was required to pay for primary mortgage insurance. Plaintiff
26 Kay paid for primary mortgage insurance from an insurer with whom Wells Fargo had a captive
27 reinsurance arrangement.
28

11. Plaintiff Daniel Myford resides in Evans City, Pennsylvania. In September 2006, Plaintiff Myford obtained a residential mortgage loan from Wells Fargo for the purchase of a home, with a downpayment of less than 20%, and was required to pay for primary mortgage insurance. Plaintiff Myford paid for primary mortgage insurance from an insurer with whom Wells Fargo had a captive reinsurance arrangement.

Defendants

12. Defendants Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. is a national banking association chartered in Sioux Falls, South Dakota and headquartered in San Francisco, California.

15. Defendant North Star is a Vermont corporation.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

Wells Fargo's Operations

16. Wells Fargo & Company is a financial services holding company and, through its numerous subsidiaries, operates in a variety of retail, corporate and commercial banking and related financial services business.

17. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. is the principal banking subsidiary of Wells Fargo & Company. As of December 31, 2006, Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. had assets of nearly $400 billion, representing approximately 83% of the assets of Wells Fargo.

17. Wells Fargo originates residential mortgage loans through its home loan division, known as "Wells Fargo Home Mortgage," headquartered in Des Moines, Iowa. Through its home mortgage division—which generated nearly $4.2 billion in revenue in 2006 alone—Wells Fargo is one of the nation's largest originators of residential mortgage loans.

18. Wells Fargo originates and funds mortgage loans through numerous retail branches, the internet (including the website: <https://www.wellsfargo.com/mortgage>), as well as other methods, including sourcing loans through a network of outside mortgage brokers. Additionally, the Company originates and funds mortgage loans through unconsolidated joint ventures with affiliates companies of which the Company owns an interest of 50% or less.

19. Wells Fargo operates over 6000 retail stores and has approximately 158,000 employees.

1           21. Through its subsidiary North Star, Wells Fargo enters into agreements to provide 2 purported reinsurance services to primary private mortgage insurance providers with respect to 3 mortgage loans originated, funded and/or serviced by Wells Fargo.

4           Private Mortgage Insurance Industry

5           24. In order to lessen risk of default, lenders typically prefer to finance no more than 6 eighty percent of the value of a home, with the remaining twenty percent being paid as a down
7 payment by the borrower. In the event of a default, the lender is then more likely to completely 8 recover its investment.

9           25. Many potential homebuyers cannot afford to pay 20% of the purchase price as a 10 down payment on a home. Private mortgage insurance allows the lender to make loans in excess of 11 80% of the home's value by providing a guarantee from a dependable third party -- the private 12 mortgage insurer -- to protect the lender in the event of a default by the borrower.

13          26. Private mortgage insurers are typically unaffiliated third-party companies who agree 14 to cover the first twenty to thirty percent of the amount of the potential claim, including unpaid
15 principal, interest and certain expenses.

16          27. The amount of private mortgage insurance coverage required varies according to the 17 perceived risk of default. The lower the percentage of the borrower's down payment, the more
18 mortgage insurance required. For example, more private mortgage insurance is required with a 19 five percent down payment than with a fifteen percent down payment. Additionally, more private 20 mortgage insurance may be required for adjustable-rate mortgages than for fixed-rate mortgages.

21          28. While the lender is the beneficiary of the private mortgage insurance, the borrower
22 pays the premiums, usually through an addition to the borrower's monthly mortgage payment.

23          29. Borrowers generally have no opportunity to comparison-shop for private mortgage 24 insurance. The private mortgage insurer is selected by the lender. The terms and conditions of the 25 insurance policy, as well as the cost of the policy, is determined by the lender and the private 26 mortgage insurer, rather than negotiated between the borrower and the private mortgage insurer.

27          30. The private mortgage insurance industry began with the founding of Mortgage
28 Guaranty Insurance Corp. ("MGIC") in 1957 and is dominated by MGIC and other companies,

1 including, without limitation: PMI Mortgage Insurance Company, Genworth Mortgage Insurance
 2 Corporation, Radian Guaranty Inc., United Guaranty Residential Insurance Company, Triad
 3 Guaranty Insurance Company and Republic Mortgage Insurance. The industry is represented by a
 4 trade association known as Mortgage Insurance Companies of America ("MICA").

5 31. According to MICA, new private mortgage insurance contracts for its member firms
 6 have consistently exceeded $200 billion per year since 1998. MICA firms issued over 1.5 million
 7 new certificates of mortgage insurance in 2005, representing over $225 billion in new insurance 8 written.

9 32. Private mortgage insurance is limited to the conventional home loan market.
 10 Mortgage loans directly insured by the federal government via mortgage guaranty programs, such 11 as those maintained by the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration, 12 maintain their own form of mortgage default insurance.

13 RESPA Prohibits Kickbacks for Referrals and Fee-Splitting Related To 14 Private Mortgage Insurance Policies

15 33. RESPA is the primary federal law regulating residential mortgage settlement
 16 services. The United States Department of Housing and Urban Development ("HUD") is charged
 17 with enforcing RESPA. HUD has promulgated the implementing rules for RESPA. See 18 Regulation X, 24 C.F.R. § 3500.

19 34. RESPA was enacted, in part, to curb the problem of kickbacks between real estate
 20 agents, lenders and other real estate settlement service providers. "It is the purpose of this chapter
 21 to effect certain changes in the settlement process for residential real estate that will result...(2) in 22 the elimination of kickbacks or referral fees that tend to increase unnecessarily the costs of certain 23 settlement services." 12 U.S.C. § 2601(b).

24 35. A key component of RESPA is its dual prohibition of referral fees and fee-splitting
 25 between persons involved in real estate settlement services.

26 36. In 12 U.S.C. 2607(a) RESPA provides:

27 No person shall give and no person shall accept any fee, kickback, or thing 28 of value pursuant to any agreement or understanding, oral or otherwise, that business incident to or a part of a real estate settlement service involving a federally related mortgage loan shall be referred to any person.

37. In 12 U.S.C. 2607(b) RESPA provides:

No person shall give and no person shall accept any portion, split, or percentage of any charge made or received for the rendering of a real estate settlement service in connection with a transaction involving a federally related mortgage loan other than for services actually performed.

38. Regulation X further explains, "A charge by a person for which no or nominal services are performed or for which duplicative fees are charged is an unearned fee and violates this section." 24 C.F.R. § 3500.14(c).

39. The term "thing of value" is broadly defined in RESPA and further described in Regulation X as including:

without limitation, monies, things, discounts, salaries, commissions, fees, duplicate payments of a charge, stock, dividends, distributions of partnership profits, franchise royalties, credits representing monies that may be paid at a future date, the opportunity to participate in a money-making program, retained or increased earnings, increased equity in a parent or subsidiary entity... The term payment is used as synonymous with the giving or receiving any "thing of value" and does not require transfer of money.

24 C.F.R. § 3500.14(d).

40. Private mortgage insurance business referred to private mortgage insurers by a lender constitutes "business incident to or a part of a real estate settlement service" within the meaning of RESPA, 12 U.S.C. § 2607(a). The term "settlement service" is liberally defined in RESPA and Regulation X and includes the "provision of services involving mortgage insurance." 24 C.F.R. § 3500.2(b).

41. Under RESPA, therefore, Wells Fargo is prohibited from accepting referral fees from a private mortgage insurer or from splitting private mortgage insurance premiums with the insurer other than for services actually performed by the captive reinsurer.

Mortgage Reinsurance Industry

42. Private mortgage insurers may enter into contracts with reinsurers, whereby the reinsurer typically agrees to assume a portion of the private mortgage insurer's risk with respect to a given pool of loans. In return, the private mortgage insurer pays to the reinsurer a portion of the premiums it receives from borrowers with respect to the loans involved.

1           43.     Mortgage reinsurance arrangements can generally take two forms: (a) “quota share”
2     and (b) “excess loss.”

3           44.     In a quota share reinsurance arrangement, the reinsurer agrees to assume a fixed
4     percentage of all the private mortgage insurer’s insured losses. Thus, if the private mortgage
5     insurer experiences losses, the reinsurer is certain to experience losses in the percentage agreed
6     upon in the reinsurance coverage.

7           45.     In an excess loss reinsurance arrangement, however, the reinsurer is liable only for 8     claims, or a percentage thereof, above a particular ceiling. Unlike the quota share arrangement, the 9     excess loss method does not necessarily result in any loss being shifted to the reinsurer.

10          46.     The likelihood of the reinsurer experiencing any losses under this arrangement
11     depends not only on the amount of losses by the private mortgage insurance, but also on whether 12     the reinsurance agreement between the reinsurer and the private mortgage insurer sets the excess
13     loss level at an amount where the reinsurer bears actual risk of loss.

14                 Captive Mortgage Reinsurance Arrangements and HUD’s Concern
15                 About RESPA Anti-kickback Violations Under Such Arrangements

16          47.     Lenders produce customers for private mortgage insurers. Certain lenders, seeking 17     to capitalize on the billions of dollars their borrowers pay to these insurers in premiums each year,
18     have established their own affiliated or “captive” reinsurers. These captive reinsurers provide 19     reinsurance primarily or exclusively for loans the lender originates that require the borrower to pay
20     for private mortgage insurance.

21          48.     Under “captive reinsurance arrangements,” the lender refers its borrowers to a 22     private mortgage insurer who agrees to reinsure with the lender’s captive reinsurer. These 23     arrangements require the private mortgage insurer to cede a percentage of the borrowers’ premiums
24     to the lender’s captive reinsurer.

25          49.     Captive mortgage reinsurance arrangements raise obvious RESPA kickback
26     problems. Private mortgage insurers are dependent on the lender to obtain business, while the 27     lender is collaborating with the insurer to obtain a share of the borrower’s premium revenue
28

1 through its captive reinsurer. The insurer stimulates its business by providing a lucrative stream of 2 revenue for the lender via the lender's captive reinsurer.

3 50. Simply put, as opposed to receiving direct payments for referring its customers to a
4 certain private mortgage insurer, an unscrupulous lender can use a captive reinsurance arrangement
5 to funnel such unlawful kickbacks.

6 51. Concerned that these transactions would be designed to disguise a funneling of 7 referral fees back to the lender who arranged for the private mortgage insurer to obtain the 8 business, HUD issued a letter dated August 6, 1997 ("HUD letter") addressing the problem of 9 captive reinsurers and RESPA's anti-kickback violations.

10 52. The HUD letter concluded that captive reinsurance arrangements were permissible
11 under RESPA only "if the payments to the affiliated reinsurer: (1) are for reinsurance services
12 'actually furnished or for services performed' and (2) are bona fide compensation that does not 13 exceed the value of such services" (emphasis in original).

14 53. The HUD letter focuses the RESPA anti-kickback analysis on whether the 15 arrangement between the lender's captive reinsurer and the private mortgage insurer represents "a 16 real transfer of risk." HUD warned that "The reinsurance transaction cannot be a sham under which 17 premium payments... are given to the reinsurer even though there is no reasonable expectation that 18 the reinsurer will ever have to pay claims."

19 54. The HUD letter states "This requirement for a real transfer of risk would clearly be 20 satisfied by a quota share arrangement, under which the reinsurer is bound to participate pro rata in 21 every claim" (emphasis in original).

22 55. The HUD letter contrasts the excess loss method of reinsurance. HUD states that 23 excess loss reinsurance contracts can escape characterization as a referral fee or fee-split only:

24 ...if the band of the reinsurer's potential exposure is such that a reasonable
25 business justification would motivate a decision to reinsure that band.
26 Unless there is a real transfer of risk, no real reinsurance services are actually being provided. In either case, the premiums paid...must be commensurate with the risk.

27 56. Notably, state insurance commissioners and federal regulators have investigated and 28 condemned similar captive reinsurance arrangements in the title insurance industry as sham

1 transactions designed to funnel unlawful kickbacks for business referrals. As a result, a number of 2 providers have abandoned such arrangements altogether.

3 57. The National Association of Insurance Commissioners (“NAIC”) also has addressed
4 the accounting treatment of premiums ceded to captive mortgage reinsurers. Under the annual 5 statement requirements of the NAIC, private mortgage insurers should not treat as authorized 6 reinsurance amounts ceded to lender-captive reinsurers where adequate risk is not transferred.
7 Rather, such amounts should be accounted for under the less beneficial deposit accounting
8 guidelines and identified as though unauthorized accounting was being utilized.

9 Wells Fargo’s Captive Reinsurance Arrangements

10 58. In connection with the billions of dollars in home loans originated by Wells Fargo, 11 many of its borrowers pay for private mortgage insurance.

12 59. Wells Fargo enters into “captive reinsurance arrangements,” whereby it refers its 13 borrowers to private mortgage insurers, who agree to reinsure with North Star. These insurers
14 include at least: PMI Mortgage Insurance Company, Genworth Mortgage Insurance Corporation, 15 Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Company, Radian Guaranty Inc., United Guaranty Residential 16 Insurance Company, Triad Guaranty Insurance Company and Republic Mortgage Insurance.

17 60. Wells Fargo has a strong financial interest in steering business to private mortgage
18 insurers who, in turn, agree to reinsure with North Star on terms that will produce significant 19 kickbacks to Wells Fargo.

20 61. North Star enters into reinsurance agreements solely with respect to loans originated
21 by Wells Fargo.

22 62. Under Wells Fargo’s captive reinsurance arrangements, the primary insurer pays
23 North Star a percentage of the premiums paid by borrowers on a particular pool of loans; in return,
24 North Star purportedly agrees to assume a portion of the insurer’s risk with respect to the loans
25 involved.

26 63. In fact, little or no risk is actually transferred from the primary insurer to North Star
27 in exchange for the insurer payments to North Star. The actual risk, if any, transferred to North 28 Star is not commensurate with the premiums it extracts from the private mortgage insurer.

64. The numbers speak for themselves. For instance, from 1999 through 2005, Wells Fargo's captive reinsurer has collected from private mortgage insurers approximately $325,684,000 as its "share" of borrower's private mortgage insurance premiums. In contrast, its "share" of paid insured losses with respect to such premiums was zero:

YEAR	PREMIUMS RECEIVED BY REINSURER	LOSSES PAID BY REINSURER
2005	$72,053,000	$0
2004	$73,578,000	$0
2003	$62,840,000	$0
2002	$73,578,000	$0
2001	$31,185,000	$0
2000	$12,450,000	$0
TOTAL:	$325,684,000	$0

65. This clear, disturbing pattern of excessive premiums compared to the actual transferred risk continued throughout 2006.

66. As HUD noted during its recent testimony by Assistant Secretary for Regulatory Affairs and Manufactured Housing Gary M. Cunningham before the United States Congress (referring to analogous captive reinsurance arrangements in the title insurance industry):

[W]hen there is a history of little or no claims being paid, or the premium payments to the captive reinsurer far exceed the risk borne by the reinsurer, there is strong evidence that there is an arrangement constructed for the purpose of payment of referral fees or other things of value in violation of Section 8 of RESPA.

66. The millions of dollars collected by Wells Fargo through its captive reinsurer have clearly not been commensurate to its actual risk exposure. The Company has received millions of dollars in payments, while bearing little or no risk of loss.

67. In reality, Wells Fargo's captive reinsurance arrangements were and are sham transactions for collecting illegal kickbacks in return for referring private mortgage insurance business to certain insurers.

68. The money Wells Fargo collected through its captive reinsurer far exceeded the value of the services, if any, it performed. There was no real transfer of risk or, at least, not a commensurate transfer of risk. The amounts paid were simply disguised kickbacks to Wells Fargo for the referral of borrowers to private mortgage insurers.

69. These arrangements keep premiums for private mortgage insurance artificially inflated because a percentage of borrowers' premiums are not actually being paid to cover actual risk, but are simply funding illegal kickbacks to lenders. In other words, because the money collected by a lender through its captive reinsurer comes from borrowers' mortgage insurance premiums, borrowers are essentially required to pay for both actual private mortgage insurance coverage and private mortgage insurers' unlawful kickbacks to lenders.

70. Amounts paid to lenders as unlawful kickbacks have become a part of the cost of doing business for private mortgage insurers. As a result, private mortgage insurance premiums incorporate the payment of such kickbacks -- to the detriment of consumers.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

71. Plaintiffs bring this action pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 23(a) and 23(b)(1), (b)(2) and/or (b)(3) on behalf of a general class consisting of all persons who obtained residential mortgage loans originated and/or acquired by Wells Fargo and/or its affiliates and, in connection therewith, purchased private mortgage insurance and whose loans were included within Wells Fargo's captive mortgage reinsurance arrangements (the "Class").

72. The Class excludes Defendants and any entity in which Defendants have a controlling interest, and their officers, directors, legal representatives, successors and assigns.

73. The Class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable.

74. A class action is superior to all other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy.

75. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the Class.

- 1           76.    There are questions of law and fact common to the Class, including but not limited 2 to:
- 3           a.    Whether Defendants' captive reinsurance arrangements involved sufficient
4 transfer of risk;
  - 5           b.    Whether payments to Wells Fargo's captive reinsurer were bona fide 6 compensation and solely for services actually performed;
  - 7           c.    Whether payments to Wells Fargo's captive reinsurer exceeded the value of 8 any services actually performed;
  - 9           d.    Whether Wells Fargo's captive reinsurance arrangements constituted 10 unlawful kickbacks from private mortgage insurers;
  - 11           e.    Whether Wells Fargo accepted a portion, split or percentage of borrowers'
12 private mortgage insurance premiums other than for services actually 13 performed; and
  - 14           f.    Whether Defendants are liable to Plaintiffs and the Class for statutory 15 damages pursuant to RESPA § 2607(d)(2).

16           77.    These and other questions of law and/or fact are common to the Class and 17 predominate over any questions affecting only individual Class members.

18           78.    Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately represent and protect the interests of the 19 members of the Class. Plaintiffs have no claims antagonistic to those of the Class. Plaintiffs have 20 retained counsel competent and experienced in complex nationwide class action litigation.
21 Plaintiffs' counsel will fairly, adequately and vigorously protect the interests of the Class.

22           79.    Class action status is warranted under Rule 23(b)(1)(A) because the prosecution of 23 separate actions by or against individual members of the class would create a risk of inconsistent or 24 varying adjudications with respect to individual members of the class, which would establish 25 incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants.

26           80.    Class action status is also warranted under Rule 23(b)(1)(B) because the prosecution 27 of separate actions by or against individual members of the class would create a risk of 28 adjudications with respect to individual members of the class which would, as a practical matter, be dispositive of the interests of the other members not parties to the adjudications or substantially impair or impede their ability to protect their interests.

81. Class action status is also warranted under Rule 23(b)(2) because Defendants have acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to the class, thereby making appropriate final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief with respect to the class as a whole.

82. Class action status is also warranted under Rule 23(b)(3) because questions of law or fact common to the members of the class predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, and a class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy.

CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

COUNT I

VIOLATION OF RESPA, 12 U.S.C. § 2607

83. Plaintiffs hereby incorporate by reference the preceding paragraphs as if they were fully set forth herein.

84. Throughout the Class Period, Wells Fargo provided “settlement services” in respect of “federally-related mortgage loans,” as such terms are defined by RESPA §§ 2602(1) and (3).

85. The amounts received by Wells Fargo through its captive reinsurance arrangements constituted “things of value” within the meaning of RESPA § 2602(2).

86. Plaintiffs and the Class obtained federally-related residential mortgage loans through Wells Fargo and paid millions of dollars for private mortgage insurance premiums in connection with their real estate closings. Defendants arranged for an unlawfully excessive split of borrowers’ premiums to be paid to North Star.

87. The millions of dollars in premiums accepted from private mortgage insurers: (a) were not for services actually furnished or performed; and/or (b) exceeded the value of such services.

88. The millions of dollars accepted by Wells Fargo through its captive reinsurance arrangements constituted fees, kickbacks or things of value pursuant to agreements with private mortgage insurers that business incident to real estate settlement services involving federally-related mortgage loans would be referred to such insurers. Such practice violated RESPA, 12 U.S.C. 2607(a). North Star—Wells Fargo’s subsidiary—participated in the scheme and served as

1 the direct conduit by which the kickbacks were funneled. North Star agreed to provide purported
2 “reinsurance” services involving mortgage insurance paid by Plaintiffs and the Class.

3 89. In connection with transactions involving federally-related mortgage loans, Wells
4 Fargo accepted a portion, split or percentage of charges received by private mortgage insurers for 5 the rendering of real estate settlement services other than for services actually performed, in 6 violation of RESPA, 12 U.S.C. 2607(b). The money paid by private mortgage insurers to Wells
7 Fargo and accepted by Wells Fargo through its captive reinsurer was a portion, split or percentage
8 of the private mortgage insurance premiums paid by Wells Fargo’s customers. North Star—Wells
9 Fargo’s subsidiary—participated in the scheme and served as the direct party to which the split was 10 paid. North Star agreed to provide purported “reinsurance” services involving mortgage insurance
11 paid by Plaintiffs and the Class.

12 90. Plaintiffs and the Class were harmed by Defendants’ unlawful kickback scheme.

13 91. First, Plaintiffs and the Class were overcharged for mortgage insurance. Kickbacks
14 and unearned fees unnecessarily and artificially inflate settlement service charges. Under Wells
15 Fargo’s scheme, the mortgage insurance premiums paid by Plaintiffs and the Class necessarily and 16 wrongly included payments for both: (a) actual mortgage insurance services; and (b) payments
17 unlawfully kicked back to Wells Fargo’s captive reinsurer that far exceeded the value of any 18 services performed and, were, in fact, illegal referral fees.

19 92. Second, regardless of whether Plaintiffs and the Class were overcharged for private 20 mortgage insurance, and regardless of the reasonableness or unreasonableness of the rates
21 Plaintiffs paid for private mortgage insurance, under RESPA, Plaintiffs and the Class were, as a 22 matter of law, entitled to purchase settlement services from providers that did not participate in 23 unlawful kickback and/or fee-splitting schemes. Congress has expressly provided for private 24 enforcement of this protected right by empowering consumers to recover statutory damages from 25 offending parties.

26 93. Defendants therefore violated RESPA, 12 U.S.C. 2607. Pursuant to RESPA, 12
27 U.S.C. 2607(d), Defendants are liable to Plaintiffs and the Class in an amount equal to three times
28

1 the amounts they have paid or will have paid for private mortgage insurance as of the date of 2 judgment.

3 94. In accordance with RESPA, 12 U.S.C. 2607(d), Plaintiffs also seek attorneys' fees
4 and costs of suit.

5 TOLLING OF STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

6 95. Defendants knowingly and actively concealed the basis for the Plaintiffs' claims by 7 engaging in a scheme that was, by its very nature and purposeful design, self-concealing. Due to 8 the complex, undisclosed and self-concealing nature of Wells Fargo's scheme to collect illegal
9 kickbacks from private mortgage insurers, Plaintiffs and the Class could not reasonably have 10 discovered the underlying basis for the claims alleged herein.

11 96. Further, Wells Fargo engaged in affirmative acts to conceal the facts and 12 circumstances giving rise to the claims asserted herein. Wells Fargo affirmatively represented to 13 Plaintiffs and the Class that any amounts it received from its captive reinsurance arrangements
14 were for services actually performed. Pursuant to RESPA § 2604(c) and the accompanying 15 regulations set forth in 24 C.F.R. 3500.7, if Wells Fargo required the use of a particular provider of 16 settlement service, it was obligated to describe the nature of any relationship between Wells Fargo
17 and such provider. Wells Fargo failed to satisfy its disclosure obligations by impermissibly
18 misrepresenting the true nature of its captive reinsurance arrangements with private mortgage
19 insurers—particularly the fact that the amounts that Plaintiffs and the Class would pay to such 20 insurers included payments to Wells Fargo's captive reinsurer in excess of the value of any 21 services rendered.

22 97. Wells Fargo provided misleading information to Plaintiffs and the Class, thus 23 affirmatively acting to conceal its unlawful kickback scheme. By funneling kickbacks through 24 North Star and representing that such payments were for services actually performed, rather than 25 referral fees, Wells Fargo acted to conceal and prevent Plaintiffs from discovering the underlying 26 basis for this action.

1           98.     Accordingly, Plaintiffs and the Class contend that it would be inequitable for the 2 Court to apply the one-year limitation period set forth in RESPA § 16, 12 U.S.C. § 2614 in a way
3 that would preclude the claim of any Plaintiff or Class member.

4                                   PRAYER FOR RELIEF

5           WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs request that this Court enter a judgment against Defendants and 6 in favor of Plaintiffs and the Class and award the following relief:

7           A.     This action be certified as a class action pursuant to Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of 8 Civil Procedure, declaring Plaintiffs as representatives of the Class and Plaintiffs' counsel as 9 counsel for the Class;

10          B.     The conduct alleged herein be declared, adjudged and decreed to be unlawful;

11          C.     Plaintiffs and the Class be awarded statutory damages pursuant to RESPA § 8(d)(2), 12 12 U.S.C. § 2607(d)(2);

13          D.     An order granting Plaintiffs and the Class costs of suit, including reasonable 14 attorneys' fees and expenses; and 15          E.     An order granting Plaintiffs and the Class such other, further and different relief as 16 the nature of the case may require or as may be determined to be just, equitable and proper by this 17 Court.

DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

Plaintiffs hereby demand a trial by jury as to all claims in this action.
